- Rural areas have a higher concentration of BED Teachers, hence the need for more concentration in these communities.

4.2 Staffing Gaps

The absence of adequate staffing can severely impede the educational progress of pupils in Plateau State. The following are some potential consequences:

- Declining Pupils Performance: With a shortage of qualified teachers, students may struggle to grasp essential concepts, leading to poorer academic performance and increased dropout rates.
- Increased Teacher Burnout: Existing teachers are often overwhelmed by large class sizes and heavy workloads, leading to burnout and further attrition.
- Inequality in Education Access: Schools in underserved areas, which are already facing challenges, disproportionately suffer from staffing shortages, exacerbating educational inequities across the State.

PLATEAU State currently experiences a deficit of 4,000 BED teachers. This discrepancy arises from an ideal teaching model, which suggests a teacher pupil ratio of 30 per class.

The ramifications of this shortfall are significant, it has led to overcrowded classrooms, reduced individual attention for students, and overall deterioration in the quality of education delivered. These conditions have hindered not only student learning and engagement but also their overall academic achievement.

4.3 Financial and Workforce Projections

- Based on projected population growth and teachers' retirements, the state needs to recruit 4,000 new BED Teachers over the next three years.
- The estimated recruitment, training, and deployment cost is ₦5,668,128,000.00

5. Multi-Year BED-Teachers Recruitment and Deployment Plan

A structured approach is required to bridge the staffing gap. The following phased plan is recommended:

- CONCLUSION

Addressing staffing gaps in Basic Education requires a holistic and strategic approach that involves multiple stakeholders, including Government, Educational institutions, Communities, and teachers themselves. By implementing these policy recommendations, we can attract, retain, and support qualified Educators, ultimately enhancing the quality of education for all students. A dedicated focus on these areas will help ensure a robust and effective educational system that meets the needs of every learner.

- Official publication and dissemination of the report by March.
- Stakeholder validation workshop to review and finalize the implementation plan.
- Commencement of phased BED-worker recruitment and deployment to address identified gaps.
